The Archdiocese of Indianapolis

The Diocese of Vincennes (now Indianapolis) was established by decree of Gregory XVI, May 6, 1834, and the See was fixed at Vincennes. The territory then comprised the entire State of Indiana and the eastern part of Illinois. The latter was separated from the Diocese of Vincennes by the erection of the Diocese of Chicago, November 28, 1843.

By a decree of Pius IX, January 8, 1857, the northern half of the State was erected into the Diocese of Fort Wayne, the boundaries being that part of the State north of the south lines of Fountain, Montgomery, Boone, Hamilton, Madison, Delaware, Randolph, and Warren Counties. The southern half of the State remained the Diocese of Vincennes. It embraced fifty counties in Indiana, covering 18,479 square miles, with a population, according to U.S. Census of 1950, of 1,505,527. It extended from the north line of Marion County and contiguous counties to the Ohio River, and from Illinois on the west to Ohio on the east.

The second Bishop of Vincennes, by Apostolic Brief, was permitted to establish his residence either at Vincennes, Madison, Lafayette or Indianapolis; the See City, however, to remain at Vincennes. This permission was renewed to the fourth Bishop, with the exception of Lafayette.

On the appointment of the fifth Bishop, he was directed to fix his residence at Indianapolis, but the Cathedral and title of the See were continued at Vincennes. By an Apostolic Brief dated March 23, 1898, the title of the Diocese was changed to that of "Diocese of Indianapolis," with the Episcopal See in the city of Indianapolis. By the same Brief the Patron Saint of the Diocese is to remain St. Francis Xavier, the title of the old Cathedral, Vincennes.

On December 19, 1944, by the Executorial Decree of the Papal Delegate, Most Reverend Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Archbishop of Laodicea, Apostolic Delegate to the United States of North America, the Papal Decree of Pope Pius XII was solemnly proclaimed in SS. Peter and Paul Cathedral, Indianapolis, elevating Indianapolis to the status of an Archdiocese, the State of Indiana being the Metropolitan Area. The Dioceses of Evansville and Lafayette in Indiana were created by the same decree and made Suffragan Sees of Indianapolis.

The Apostolic Decree of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, creating the Archdiocese of Indianapolis, was issued October 21, 1944. The Apostolic Decree of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, elevating the Most Reverend Joseph E. Ritter as first Archbishop of the Province of Indianapolis, was issued November 11, 1944. Both documents were transmitted to His Excellency, Archbishop Ritter, through the courtesy of the Most Reverend Michael J. Ready, D.O., Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, after the Solemn Consistory held in March, 1946.

Deanery Theological Conferences

THEOLOGICAL CONFERENCES

1964 - 1965

Subject Matter

Fall Conference (1964)

- I. The significance of the recommended changes in the Sacred Liturgy.
- II. Moral Case —

John, single, aged 22, goes to his Pastor asking support as a conscientious objector. He tells the Pastor that he is facing imminent draft into the Military Service and that his conscience recoils at the idea of having anything to do with modern warfare. The Pastor tells John that it is certainly his right to set forth his objections to the Selective Service Board and to take a firm stand in the matter. He even tells John that as his Pastor, having known him for a long time, he will go so far as to write a statement to the Selective Service Officials attesting to John's integrity and assuring them that if John states that it is contrary to his conscience to accept the call into Military Service, they may be sure that his objection is honest, not a mere subterfuge to avoid Military Service. However, he tells John that he cannot, in light of the consistent opinion of Moral Theologians, support his stand as one deduced from his religious beliefs or convictions as a Catholic. John rejoins that undoubtedly the stand of the Theologians was valid in the days of the broadsword, perhaps even in the days of the blockbusters, but that in the modern era of nuclear and germ warfare, it has become simply irrelevant.

The Pastor also faces another problem in that William, aged 21, who has already made known his plans to marry in about a year's time, finding himself facing a call to Military Service, wishes to be married within a month in order to be freed from the draft.

Questions:

1. What are the principles in general concerning the waging of war?
2. How can these principles be reasonably applied in terms of the world situation today?
 - a. In terms of limited, non-nuclear warfare?
 - b. In terms of limited nuclear warfare, particularly with the use of low-yield nuclear weapons?
 - c. In terms of "all-out" nuclear war?
3. What can be said of John's position?
 - a. As a conscientious objector?
 - b. In urging that traditional Theological opinion in this matter is not relevant today?
4. What Pastoral prudence can be exercised with regard to William's desire to marry far in advance of the date he had planned?
5. What spiritual advice can be offered to John?

DEANERY THEOLOGICAL CONFERENCES

Spring Conference (1965)

I. The implementation of the recommended changes in the Liturgy.

II. Moral Case —

John, a dealer in some kind of consumer commodities, has a very large business. He engages in the following practices:

1. He puts a price tag on his goods, stating a price far higher than the normal market value of the commodity. His idea is that by cutting the price drastically when the prospective buyer protests that it is much too high, he can thereby induce him to buy at a reasonable price.
2. If, however, a buyer willingly pays the marked price, John says nothing but simply accepts that price, arguing that the ignorance or naivete of the purchaser is not his fault.
3. John also sells much merchandise on credit, financing the credit himself, since his operation and capital are large enough to permit this. Naturally, he has occasion to repossess much of the goods he sells in this manner, since he extends credit very easily. The law in this case demands a quick sale of the repossessed goods, usually at auction. The price (less repossession expense) is then credited to the defaulting purchaser, who remains then obligated to pay the remainder of his debt. John follows this law, but in this manner: he and dealers in similar merchandise conduct an auction at which repossessed goods are sold. They have a tacit understanding that each dealer will bid a very low price on the goods that he has repossessed without opposition so that he may return them to his own business and sell them as used articles at a price far higher than the auction price.
4. John has a large fleet of trucks that he uses. To keep up the image of his business, he keeps up their appearance very well. However, they have very heavy use, by the time he is ready to trade them in, so that their condition is not very good at all. He trades with a large truck dealer, who, quite impressed with their appearance, pays considerably more for them than he would if he knew their actual condition, about which John says nothing at all.

Questions:

1. Does John act unjustly in pricing his goods very high, so that by drastic reduction, he can induce prospective purchasers to buy?
2. May John charge the listed price, much higher than a reasonable price, if the customer does not protest?
3. What can be said of John's action in the matter of repossession?
4. Does John act unjustly against the truck dealer? What if he knows that the truck dealer will sell these trucks at a much higher price than their actual worth, since inexperienced purchasers would judge them only by their appearance. What if John sells the trucks directly to inexperienced purchasers?
